

Customer Notes and Team Insights:

- The client really liked the design of the home page. The section of recent activities and gallery made the website more visible.
- They really appreciated the idea of adding a gallery of rotating images on the homepage because pictures make the design appear more interesting.
- The client also mentioned that the links to social media are quite helpful on the home page.
- The idea of adding a blog where members can communicate, add posts and make changes was preferred for current members of the RCE.
- They also wanted to make the web pages mobile friendly so that users can easily access the webpages from their phones.
- Visitors like to skim through content, so all the recent upcoming activities need to be well organized so that it is easy to scan.
- Well planned information architecture is vital for usability so all the documentation will be organized according to the year.
- The donation option will be removed from the sign-up page.
- A new button will be added on the home page for new volunteers so that they can contribute their time for RCE.
